

A photograph of a clover plant against a black background. On the left, a green stem with three-lobed leaves rises to a pink clover flower in full bloom. To the right, a separate stem shows a mature, white, fluffy seed head (pappus) on a thin, light-colored stem. The text is centered in the lower half of the image.

In addition to giving,
we may find ourselves
given to.

The Thoughtful Caregiver